October Newsletter

---

Volume 2 Number 10

October is such a beautiful month for an outdoor wedding! Many brides are now discovering how easy it is to get a booking with top vendors during the month of October. Seasonal flowers are a must for an October wedding. Just think of how much color a leaf could bring to the outdoor décor. The weather is mild. An evening wedding may call for a light shoulder covering, or maybe gloves for the bridesmaids, but think of the possibilities. Bouquets would not call for much fuss. Fillers are more than abundant during this time of year. If you are fortunate to live in a mountainous area, you have nature on your side. I like to think of a Fall wedding as the flip side of a Spring wedding. Fall has the most gorgeous colors. The different shades of orange cannot be beat.

If you are a bride on a budget, October may be just the month you're looking for to save money. Across the board, more brides tend to follow the trend of Spring and Summer weddings. Fall weddings are wide opened for business!

October is also a good month to shop for bargains on gowns. The fashion industry is usually “turning over” and gowns can be found in abundance. Planning ahead is always the key. You can make your purchases in October even if your wedding is not in the Fall.

Consider a Fall wedding. It’s my personal favorite.
